

To Whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter to refer for Rui Heng Foo to become a part of the Learning Support Services within the School of International Letters and Cultures. Foo has been a volunteer for me with the International Students and Scholars Center at ASU for about two semesters now and I strongly support his candidacy for a position within the School of International Letters and Cultures.

Foo always brings a little bit of humor with his hard work and dedication to helping others. Our program specifically works towards helping international students therefore allowing him to demonstrate his skills with multicultural communication, organization, and ability to work in a dynamic environment. From large scale events, to packing welcome bags for international students arriving at the airport, Foo is always interested in helping.

Foo has always been very dependable as a volunteer; he signs up for roles and always shows up for the position. If anything, he will offer to stay late to help and help when he is not volunteering but just simply attending. Beyond his hard work and dependability Foo is great to work with, he gets along with the other volunteers and I really have enjoyed working with him.

If you have follow up questions please feel free to contact me; halie.cousineau@asu.edu. I would be more than happy to follow up on any specific details, events Foo has directly helped, organized and fun. Again, I do recommend Rui Heng Foo to become a part of the Learning Support Services within the School of International Letters and Cultures.

Thank you,

Halie Cousineau (she, her, hers)

International Student Senior Coordinator
International Students and Scholars Center (ISSC)

The Southeast Asian American Student Association
Advisor
Explorers: The first-year student experience club at ASU
Advisor

Staff Council's Sustainability Committee Co-Chair
Arizona State University

Student Services Building (SSV), 170
Arizona State University

email: halie.cousineau@asu.edu
ASU Certified Sustainable Event Planner

